

AP Autobiography Assignment

Date Due:

Value: 75 points

You are to write an autobiography. It should cover all of the major events in your life. It should also provide analysis of the meaning of these events to yourself and to the outside world. It would be wise not only to consult your records and memories, but to interview others associated with your life. Like any history, you should come to conclusions about your life thus far and support those conclusions with fact. Yes, that means you will have a thesis. Your voice is the centerpiece of this autobiography, merely supported by the facts of your life. The paper must be at least 2000 words, typed. Final word count should be on the last page, there is no maximum. The paper must include a bibliography with a minimum of five sources(no, this doesn't count towards your 2000 words). Remember, historical papers don't have title pages or interest creating devices.
